[Expecially reported for the Wheeling Intelligen. cer.]

The meeting of citizens of Brooke some one county. For himself, no of the difficulty. Mr. Leazure (one of the some one could be found to drag them out of the difficulty. For himself, he had county, held yesterday in Wellsburg, to had enough of it. Mr. Leazure (one of the Directors) made a very nice speech in vindication of President Applegate's course, and called attention to the fact consider the affairs of the Pittsburgh, Wheeling & Kentucky Rallroad, was very largely attended. We have seldom that the pamphlet, which was so unsatis-factory to Mr. Joseph Applegate, was pubseen, within the walls of the old Court House, such a representation of the sublished by the Directors at their own expense, and that they could not afford to publish such a voluminous work as would have been required to give the specific information which Mr. Applegate so much desired, but if the people of Brooke county wanted the information put in print they should have it, if they would furnish the money; officewise they could appoint a committee to examine the books, which need not cost anything if the committee would do as he had done, work without fee or reward.

Joseph Applegate then proceeded to remark upon the action of the Board of Directors in making an assignment of the road to Messrs. Pendleton and Hubbard. He wanted to know by what right they had done it, and what necessity there was for such a proceeding. The road was certainly worth more than any claims that could be brought against it, and he wanted an expression of opinion on the subject from this meeting. He did not lay the blame for that transaction upon the Directors. for that transaction upon the Directors, but he believed they had been hood wink-ed by those who had some ulterior design to accomplish. Mr. Palmer remarked that before any thing could be accomplished in the way of raising unds to complete the road it would be necessary to have the assignment set aside, and that measures looking to that end had been initiated by the County Court, also that it could be more readily accomplished by the assis-tance of the Directors who had made the should not be repeated.
